

How to make your bunting.

1. You'll need paper or light card, access to a printer, string or ribbon, scissors (or craft knife & ruler), a stapler and 20 minutes of craft time!
2. Print your flags onto A4 paper. Be sure to print 'at actual size' to ensure maximum flag size. How many pages you print will depend on your desired bunting length. Three flags measure approx 42cm long when arranged end to end.
3. Cut out the bunting triangles along the outer edge.
4. Cut your string to length, remembering that it should dip a little in the middle.
5. Space out your flags, leaving approx 30cm space at both ends to tie up your bunting.
6. Hang up at your packing party to help set the tone of your event!

dignity drive

share
the dignity

How to make your bunting.

1. You'll need paper or light card, access to a printer, string or ribbon, scissors (or craft knife & ruler), a stapler and 20 minutes of craft time!
2. Print your flags onto A4 paper. Be sure to print 'at actual size' to ensure maximum flag size. How many pages you print will depend on your desired bunting length. Three flags measure approx 42cm long when arranged end to end.
3. Cut out the bunting triangles along the outer edge.
4. Cut your string to length, remembering that it should dip a little in the middle.
5. Space out your flags, leaving approx 30cm space at both ends to tie up your bunting.
6. Hang up at your packing party to help set the tone of your event!

How to make your bunting.

1. You'll need paper or light card, access to a printer, string or ribbon, scissors (or craft knife & ruler), a stapler and 20 minutes of craft time!
2. Print your flags onto A4 paper. Be sure to print 'at actual size' to ensure maximum flag size. How many pages you print will depend on your desired bunting length. Three flags measure approx 42cm long when arranged end to end.
3. Cut out the bunting triangles along the outer edge.
4. Cut your string to length, remembering that it should dip a little in the middle.
5. Space out your flags, leaving approx 30cm space at both ends to tie up your bunting.
6. Hang up at your packing party to help set the tone of your event!

